PARTICIPATING FAMILY TESTIMONIALS:

August 2008

Ankit had been bothering his mom for quite some time about wanting a specific book. She is a graduate student living on a shoe-string, so when she saw how much it would cost on Amazon.com, she told him she was sorry but it was too expensive. Three days later his Ferst Foundation book came in the mail - it was the exact title he had been asking for! He's holding it in the picture.

Dear Ferst Foundation~

We have been gratefully receiving books from your organization for the past 2 years for our oldest son. He looks forward to reading his new books every time the mailman delivers them. His favorite book is "Rooster Can't Cock-A-Doodle-Do" that he received a few months ago from Ferst. He has to read it several times a day and has already memorized it so if no one reads it to him enough, he will read it to himself. Of course, making the animal noises is his favorite part. A few weeks ago as I was preparing supper, I heard him start reading the book aloud in the family room. When I went to check on him, he was reading it to his baby brother. I had to get a picture and pass it along to you. Thank you for your wonderful program! We are already seeing the fruits of your labor in our children.

I would like to thank you so much for the wonderful books we received each month for our Grandson Caden. We signed Caden up for the free books through the internet when Caden was just turning one. Caden comes to our home every other weekend and he knows when he puts on his PJ's it's time for "Books"!

Caden's favorite book is "Llama Llama Red Pajama by Anna Dewdney", he just screams with joy when I ask him if he wants to read that one. I never get through story time without reading this book at least twice. Caden is my first Grandson and I have spent so much time bonding with him over these books, so I wanted to thank the foundation and all the sponsors for giving us this time together.

Sincerely,

Sandra and Caden Wood
